Event Promises to Be Greatest of Kind in History of Southern Nevada

"Bud" Morris and his famous five-piece orchestra, including Thomas a piano will deal out inspiration such as will drive all cares to the wind. The cabaret will be a panorama of action. Scenes from the "Jolly Corks" to Shakespeare will be enacted, with a galaxy of entertainers—singers, monologists and clog dancers, supported by Dutch Helweck of Tonopah, man who makes the piano do or say anything. The refreshments, under direction of Oscar Olsen, will be Jake-nuff seed. The waiters will be bachelor Elks and married men who will stand with hiccup.

The top floor will be the Mecca for games of chance, a circus, fortune tellers and last but not least the Elks have been extremely fortunate in being able to engage the services of Farmer Contreras and his family orchestra, who will play on the top floor for the overflow from the main hall room. This orchestra consists of Dad with the fiddle, mother with the melodion, Silas with the cornet and Rueben at the drum. They specialize in all the up-to-date dances such as quadrilles, the polka, Dan Tucker, Virginia Reel, "Spud" Murphy and Tim Connolly will do the calling b'gum.

Preparations for the general entertainment and music are in charge of a committee consisting of F. M. Stoller, chairman; Roger Foley and Jack Murphy. The entire interior of the Elks' building will be newly decorated with material due to arrive in the next few days from the east. The color scheme in the ball room is to be changed. Heretofore the color predominating has been purple, a difficult color trying on makeups and gowns, but this year the scheme will be reds and greens.
